

AlgaPrime™ DHA

The smart omega-3 choice for pet nutrition and sustainable growth

Corbion: the right partner for sustainable omega-3 DHA

With over a century of expertise in fermentation, Corbion is a global leader in sustainable innovation. We preserve what matters. We collaborate with customers to address sustainability and nutritional challenges, adapt to market trends, and meet evolving consumer preferences.

We unleash the power of algae fermentation to provide nutritional ingredients while preserving the world's limited resources. As the largest producer of algae-based Omega-3, we are a trusted supplier for leading companies worldwide.

Our promise to you

Quality: Our controlled fermentation and manufacturing process ensures high quality, consistency, and purity.

Reliability: Our large-scale production process and backward-integrated supply chain ensure reliable supplies.

Sustainability: We offer sustainable solutions using renewable energy and responsibly sourced feedstock.

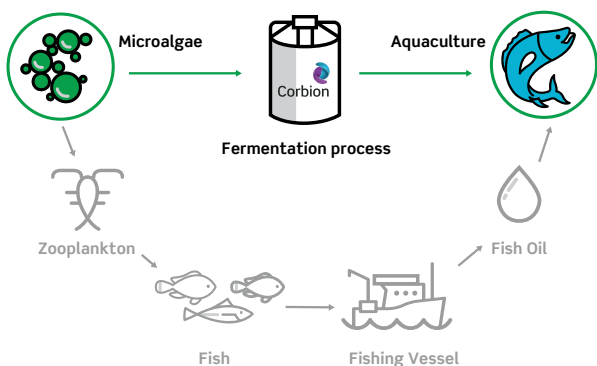

Adaptability: We support you in integrating our sustainable solutions into your products and processes.

We understand your challenges in securing high-quality Omega-3 DHA

Pet food brands want a high-quality, reliable, and scalable omega-3 solution for sustainable growth. Rising demand and climate change drive a supply gap and volatility as necessary catch quotas limit traceable fish oil availability.

AlgaPrime™ DHA: Omega-3 from the original source

Omega-3 is made by algae in the sea. This is where fish get their Omega-3 from. AlgaPrime™ DHA comes from the same original source but is fermented in a controlled environment on land.

Promoting pet health: from young paws to wise whiskers

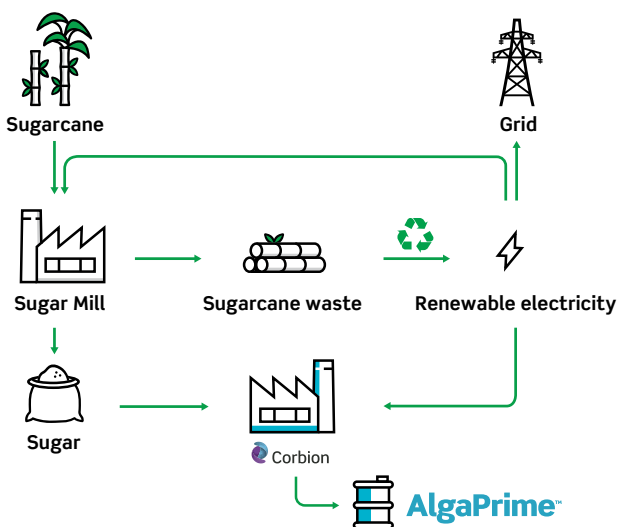

Omega-3 supports brain development, promotes eye health, and helps maintain a healthy heart. Its natural anti-inflammatory properties aid joint function, skin condition, and coat shine, while also supporting kidney function and reproductive health.

Designed for performance. Engineered for easy adoption

AlgaPrime™ DHA has excellent product properties and is available in different forms to suit your needs. Our technical experts will support you during integration into your processes – whether in dry, wet, or extrusion-based pet food formulations.
